

IBSEN

IBSEN stands for Insurance Business Engines. It is a concept on which Practis has developed a administration system that is applied within the pension and insurance market. In IBSEN the knowledge of the insurance market, specific knowledge in the field of ICT and experience are combined. This has resulted in a powerful and flexible administration system which provides for the management of individual and (semi-) group insurance for both private and business market.

IBSEN is:

- created with independent components
- international
- multilingual
- Internet accessible
- platform independent.

Typical Benefits IBSEN

- IBSEN responds to the needs of life insurance organizations
- Flexibility
- Supply chain; disclosure to employers, participants and policy-holders over the Internet and direct handling of the BackOffice
- Cost reduction through reuse of calculation, product components, products and processes to quickly create new or modified products to implement
- Short time to market
- Control, rules and data are centrally stored and managed
